Historically, it was a well-known pilot station and an area characterised by the sale and export of lobsters, as well as rich herring fisheries. Today, shrimp trawlers are often found in the harbour, selling both shellfish and fish. Along the waterfront, you will also find the Coastal Heritage Collection, an exhibition featuring historic sailing vessels, equipment, and storytelling about Tananger's maritime history. Monsenhuset, said to be the oldest house in the area, and Hummeren Hotel are near the harbour. A short walk from the harbour brings you to the village centre, where you will find most everyday amenities, including grocery stores, hairdressers, clothing shops, and three |
